Dulles Flies to See Chiang, Assures Him of U.S. Promise

Heavy Attacks Again Thrown Against Reds

Secretary Says Seventh Fleet Ready To Protect Formosa

By WILLIAM MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew through war-torn skies under escort of American and Nationalist Chinese jet fighters today to assure Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek personally that the United States stands by its promise to protect Formosa.

Even as Dulles delivered his new assurances to the generalissimo in a five-hour meeting, Nationalist fighter-bombers and warships threw heavy new blows against the Red Chinese port of Amoy, other islands near the Red mainland.

The National Defense Ministry claimed that two small Red gunboats and six large troop junks were sunk in today's attacks, and another 20 junks damaged and three captured.

Heavy damage was caused among Communist troop barracks near Amoy and on several islands nearby, the ministry said.

A Tokyo dispatch said Dulles had arrived there for conferences with Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and members of his government.

An American Embassy official at Manila said F-86 Sabre jets from Clark Field escorted Dulles' Constellation to the south tip of Formosa and that Nationalist Chinese F-47 Thunderbolts joined the protective shield south of the island.

Dulles said the U. S. 7th fleet is under orders to protect Formosa from the Communists.

"Red China has now intensified its military propaganda activity against Formosa," Dulles said. "But we shall not be intimidated."

"Orders to our 7th fleet... continue firm under the Eisenhower administration. The United States is prepared to stand with those who have passed through so many trials."

Greeted By Chiang
Chiang greeted Dulles at the Taipei Airport. Dulles received a 29-gun salute and full military honors.

Dulles said after his conference with Chiang that they had discussed "matters of common concern."

He declined to discuss the Quemoy situation.

"We did not come here to negotiate anything," Dulles said. "I came here only for discussions. I talked to President Chiang Kai-Shek on matters of common concern."

Dulles left at 5 p. m. for Tokyo.

Eisenhower's Policies Ripped By Stevenson

Speaks to 3,000 at $100 a Plate Dinner in Harrisburg, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson ripped into the Eisenhower administration's policies—foreign and domestic—Wednesday night, even paraphrasing Shakespeare, in the Democrats' opening drive to regain control of Congress.

The 1952 presidential aspirant told 3,000 guests at a $100 a plate dinner here that the Republicans have given the nation slogan policies instead of foreign policies.

"Dulles sound and Knowland fury, signifying nothing and accomplishing less."

The quote is a paraphrase of Macbeth's famous line that life "is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Stevenson said the most important part of the Democratic party's job this fall is to "give direction again to a foreign policy which wallows aimlessly and dangerously while a bunch of bickering hellsmen quarrel at the wheel."

I mean the full time and part time secretaries of state."

260,000 at Soldier Field Catholic Rally

Cardinal Stritch Celebrates Midwest's First Such Occasion

CHICAGO (UP)—A crowd estimated as high as 260,000 persons jammed Soldier Field and its environs for a Roman Catholic rally Wednesday night and at least 125 were given medical aid when they were overcome or hurt in the throng.

The crowd jammed the huge lakefront stadium for an impressive tribute to the Virgin Mary at which Samuel Cardinal Stritch celebrated the Midwest's first outdoor evening Mass.

Park District Police Chief George Otletwis estimated the crowd at 260,000, including thousands who were unable to get into the stadium and milled around outside listening to the ceremonies over loud speakers.

Dr. Herman H. Bundesen, president of the Board of Health, said most of those requiring medical attention suffered from shock, exhaustion or hysteria or were bruised in the crush when gates to the stadium were closed.

Police and firemen bearing stretchers struggled through the press of humanity to carry the victims to two first aid stations at the stadium, manned by 55 nurses, doctors and ambulance attendants.

An additional 40 nurses in the vast throng volunteered their services.

Bunden said about 20 of the victims were taken to hospitals, many of them suffering from heart attacks.

One woman suffered a fractured arm and another a turned ankle. Two of five heart attack victims were reported in critical condition at hospitals.

A detail of 283 policemen labored feverishly in an effort to keep a mammoth river of traffic flowing along the lakefront arteries radiating from the stadium, but the traffic jam was one of the worst in the city's history.

A total of 1,199 buses were chartered by parish and school groups.

More than 8,000 persons participated in the official program, including four choirs numbering 4,000 voices.

Part McCarthy Defense Upset By Committee

Bar Testimony Other Senators Got Data Same as He Did

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate's special censure committee upset Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's defense on two counts today, provoking protests from the Wisconsin Republican.

The committee voted unanimously to bar testimony which McCarthy and his attorney had planned to present to support their claim that other senators had followed the same practices which McCarthy used in soliciting information from federal workers.

McCarthy's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, protested the committee decision "effectively prevents us from introducing evidence which we believe is the heart and soul of our defense" on the two counts.

The flareup came after McCarthy had defended his action in having federal employees to supply him with information about wrongdoing or subversion in government. He denied that he had asked them to violate the law.

McCarthy said actually he would have been subject to censure had he failed, as chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, to invite and use such information. In effect he renewed his invitation to federal employees.

Involves Two Charges
One of the five general censure charges against McCarthy is that he improperly encouraged federal employees to supply him secret information. Another is that he improperly used such information in the case of the so-called "FBI letter" as disclosed last spring during the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Williams said the committee's (Continued on Page Five)

Security Group Discusses Red China Threat

To Meet Sunday At Denver with President Eisenhower

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The National Security Council met today to exchange views, apparently including those on Red China's threat to Formosa, for presentation to President Eisenhower Sunday.

The council met at the White House with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in charge. The council will hold an unprecedented meeting Sunday with Mr. Eisenhower at Denver, Colo.

Administration sources reported that the unusual Sunday meeting will weigh the significance of Communist China's armed stabs at Nationalist-held islands guarding Formosa.

The President and his top advisers may reach a secret decision on how far the U. S. 7th Fleet will range beyond Formosa proper to protect important stepping-stone islands in the area. The United States has never said whether it would retaliate if outlying islands were hit.

The Summer White House at Denver announced Wednesday that the President had ordered the council meeting in Denver. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will return from a quick trip to the Philippines, Formosa and Japan to attend.

The crashing of Red Chinese shells against the Nationalist island of Quemoy over the week-end raised official apprehension over the possibility of new Red aggression in the Far East. This rose higher when the Russians destroyed an American Navy plane over the Sea of Japan—an act that is being taken before the United Nations Security Council.

Southern Illinois, Inc., to Be Host to Washington Officials

Top echelon officials from the Washington office of the Small Business Administration are scheduled to hold conferences at the office of Southern Illinois Incorporated on September 15, 16, and 17. Procurement officers of the Department of Defense and of each branch of the Armed Services will also be in attendance.

This is the first meeting of its type to be held in an area classified as critical, because of the high rate of unemployment, anywhere in the United States. The aim of the conference is to try to place some federal and military contracts with manufacturers of this area. If these efforts prove successful, the pattern of this coming conference may be used as a criteria, or pattern, for similar areas of other sections of this country.

This proposed meeting has received considerable attention in Washington.

Latham was indicted by a grand jury for murder and four other counts for the attacks.

Latham escaped Aug. 31 shortly after being taken to Vienna to enter a plea. Law officers and citizens' posses searched for him day and night until his surrender.

Latham was kept in jail here after his first arrest until he was taken back to Vienna Aug. 31.

Latham went to the farm home of Steve Mathis Wednesday and Mathis talked him into giving himself up. State police took him into custody and brought him here.

Latham told officers he spent the nine days in wooded areas south of Vienna and ate peaches from orchards in the area.

Remove Scores Of Bodies at Orleansville

City of 20,000 Ripped Apart by 12-Second Temblor

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria (UP)—The worst earthquake in modern North African history ripped apart this city of 20,000 early today in 12 nightmarish seconds of collapsing buildings and jackknifing streets.

French authorities said the official toll of bodies recovered by noon (5 a. m. CST) was 100, but that it was feared the death toll throughout the Chelif Valley would reach 1,000.

Authorities said that at least 800 bodies still lay trapped in the smoking ruins of this city, 100 miles southwest of Algiers.

Uncounted thousands were injured, many with fractured skulls. Algerians Escapes Disaster

The earthquake travelled eastward toppling houses only six miles from Algiers, but the capital itself was not damaged.

The first and worst shock of the earthquake hit at 1 a. m. (6 p. m. CST Wednesday) and lasted 12 seconds. It razed at least half the buildings in the city and damaged villages, towns and farms 100 miles away through the Chelif valley.

All available doctors, police and troops in Algeria, plus soldiers from France, were rushed by plane to Orleansville and the Chelif area.

A 40-bed field hospital set up amid the ruins of the city proved inadequate. Hundreds of wounded were flown to Algiers.

Orleansville looked like a war-devastated city. Most public buildings are gone. All telephone lines and cables are cut.

In the European and native quarters of the city dazed residents wandered the rubble-choked streets hunting relatives and friends.

Terror in the Night
Most of the city was asleep when the earthquake struck.

"We were asleep when suddenly we found ourselves falling down with the roof and the whole house on top of us," one evacuee with bad head wounds said. "It was like a nightmare."

"There were terrible shrieks and screaming," he said. "When I found my way out of the ruins, I saw people running everywhere up and down the streets."

Doctors set up a field hospital outside the destroyed area and French garrisons installed soup kitchens and canteens to feed the victims.

Hotel Collapses
The Hotel Baudouin in Orleansville collapsed and buried 40 guests in their beds. Half the city's penitentiary went down in a jigsaw of dust, killing 10 convicts and injuring 25.

Pilots flying over Orleansville at daybreak said the ancient city looked as though it had been bombed.

The earthquake cracked two dams near Orleansville, but officials said the damage was not serious and the dams would hold.

Gov. Gen. Roger Leonard flew to the scene and the Algiers Red Cross and other emergency organizations gathered food and clothing for surviving victims. Radio Algeria broadcast repeated appeals for blood donors.

Some reports said the big Lamerline dam near the city crumbled and precious water vanished into the arid countryside.

The central police station in Orleansville, the general post office building which also houses telephone and cable facilities, and the penitentiary were razed.

Nearly 200 bodies had been recovered by afternoon.

It was the worst quake in the Mediterranean region since last year's Greek disaster. The government said it was Algeria's worst in 40 years.

Adm. John Cassady, commander of U. S. naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, ordered the U. S. 6th Fleet to stand by to give all possible assistance in Algeria, if requested to do so.

The 6th Fleet, with headquarters at Naples, is the largest naval force in the Mediterranean.

Most of the victims—French settlers and Arabs—were crushed in their sleep under an avalanche of stones and rubble. Others were engulfed in huge fissures which opened in the streets as they rushed from their houses.

Flying debris and gas leaks claimed other victims.

Epicer of the quake and worst nit was this town.

The School Problem

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

By 1960, little more than five years from now, it is expected there will be some 8,000,000 more students in American schools than are currently attending. Somehow, provision must be made to house and teach this tremendous influx.

The problem is not a distant one,
as everyone knows who has been watching school trends. For instance, this very fall there will be 1,692,000 more elementary pupils,
219,000 more high school and 89,000 more college students.

Dr. Samuel Brownell, U. S. Commissioner of Education, says the country will have to triple its present rate of school construction to keep pace with the need. And yet the building of schools in the past two years has been at the highest rate in the country's history.

As for teachers, right now there is a minimum need for 118,000 elementary school instructors to take care of mounting enrollment and to replace teachers leaving the field. Only about 45,000 qualified teacher graduates are apparently available, so the shortage will be 73,000.

As the great wave of new pupils moves up into high school and college years, the pressure for many more teachers will be felt more acutely in those brackets, too.

Congress addressed itself to this problem during the session just closed, and many lawmakers agitated for speedy action. But President Eisenhower and his key aides succeeded in blocking current enactment of aid-to-education legislation.

The President opposed action not because he believes the problem exaggerated but because he wants it studied more thoroughly.
Consequently, he has now launched perhaps the most comprehensive inquiry into American schools ever undertaken. He is seeking the best course he can find for a dilemma that has become painfully chronic.

Mr. Eisenhower wants all the governors to call state conferences of citizens and educators to appraise the situation. Then he wishes to call a White House conference to pull findings and recommendations together and shape a program.

The big question, of course, is how much of the load can be managed by the states and cities. The President is an advocate of state and local self-help wherever it is feasible. But many lawmakers and others believe federal assistance is essential. If that is so, then the next question which must be settled is how this aid can be managed without getting into federal dictation over education.

Certainly the answers to these questions cannot be long delayed.
Nor can governmental economy be used as an excuse for doing nothing.
At stake is the effective preparation of millions of young Americans for life in a difficult, troubled world. No one needs to say how important that is.

"Why couldn't she be satisfied to play the piano like other little girls?"

DREW PEARSON Says:
General Persons Gets His Cousin Promoted; General Ridgway Proposes Boycotting France; Senators Morse and George, Former Political Opponents, Become Great Friends.

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the well-remembered military aide of President Truman, came in for quite a bit of public ribbing by this newsman and others for pulling political wires which were none of his business. He now has a rival in the Eisenhower administration.

In fact, it begins to look as if Vaughan was a piker compared to the chief military man in the White House, Gen. Wilton "Slick" Persons.

Persons recently pulled wires to get his cousin promoted to the rank of rear admiral over 355 other Navy captains who were ahead of him. To do this he exerted terrific pressure on Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, who was a little reluctant but finally came through. General Persons' cousin, Capt. Henry S. Persons, graduated from Annapolis in the class of 1927. All other captains promoted this time, except one, were from the class of 1927.

Promotion to the rank of rear admiral is one of the highest honors that comes in the Navy. Only 27 men made it this year, and for a lower classman to be jumped over higher-ranking captains, thanks to a powerful friend in the cousin, has really made the Navy loiling mad.

Dutifully, however, the Navy tried to cover up. At first it issued an official statement that Captain Persons was promoted under Section 423 A, which specifies that the Secretary of the Navy can promote officers who have "special qualifications." But having made this explanation, the Navy then took it back by virtually admitting that Captain Persons had no special qualifications. The Secretary of the Navy, it was stated, was simply giving incentive to younger officers to work harder.

Note 1 — General Persons won the nickname "Slick" in wartime days when he acted as the Army's lobbyist with Congress. It was his first job to push Army legislation through Congress, and he did an A-1 job.

Note 2 — On the other side of the ledger, General Persons was largely responsible for getting martial law invoked in Phenix City, Ala. The general's brother is governor of Alabama, and it was General Persons who applied so much pressure about crime and vice affecting adjacent military troops that Governor Persons started his campaign of Phenix City.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
General Ridgway is urging the Joint Chiefs of Staff to abandon France entirely and concentrate on Germany and Spain in building European defense against Russia. Ridgway has recommended that military aid to France be drastically cut and that the Army begin moving its billion-dollar supply lines to German and Belgian ports.

The British Labor delegation touring Communist China was shocked to see how sick Premier Mao Tse-tung looks. Mao looked as if he had just gotten up from his sickbed to talk briefly with the British visitors. As a result, Clement Attlee has informed the British foreign office that Foreign Minister Chou En-lai appears to be the real boss of Red China.

Madame Pandit is reported to be fed up with the pro-Russian policy of her brother, Prime Minister Nehru, that she will leave India and live in England or the United States. Madame Pandit used to be ambassador to Washington, later became head of India's delegation to the U. N. Her brother has now replaced her with pro-Russian Krishna Memon. . . . Senator McCarthy's No. 1 pal in the State Department, Scott McLeod, is looking around for a new job. Secretary Dulles, who fired him once but re-neged, is now talking about firing McLeod for keeping. However, the new undersecretary of state, Herbert Hoover, Jr., may save him. He happens to be a good friend of McLeod.

TWO STRANGE FRIENDS
One of the strangest friendships

to develop on Capitol Hill during the last session of Congress was between elder statesman Walter George of Georgia, conservative Democrat, and younger, hard-hitting Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon independent.

George is now the oldest member of the Senate in point of service, is one of its most loved and respected members, and in the past has followed a conservative policy on power questions, has generally voted for tax concessions helping big business. This session, however, he blasted the new tax bill for its loopholes favoring business, and has voted against the Eisenhower atomic-energy bill because of what he considered giveaways to private industry.

On both these subjects, Morse and George were on the same side. "You have done a greater job in protecting the public on power than George Norris," George told the Oregon independent. "Norris only talked about Muscle Shoals, but the battle you have put up deals with control of the future source of energy in this nation."

George went on to point out what the public doesn't realize is that in a few years 12 atomic reactors can supply all the power the entire United States will need, and that control of this power was the real question at issue in the atomic-energy debate.

George and Morse got so friendly that at one time the Georgia colon made a speech about Morse as a secret Democratic caucus. As a result, Sen. Lyndon Johnson came to Morse, asked him to try to persuade George to be a member of the Senate committee censuring McCarthy.

"You have more influence with him than anyone else," Johnson told Morse.

George regretfully declined because of his wife's health and the necessity of leaving Washington after the adjournment of Congress.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN
Reliable reports from behind the Iron Curtain indicate that the Kremlin is cracking down on the Russian people again.

After Stalin's death, and while the Malenkov administration was setting itself settled in the saddle, it appeared the civilian population with an abundance of little luxuries. Some of the heat was even taken off the churches while the "party line" which tells Soviet writers and musicians what they must say and play loosened up a little.

But a purge of writers and composers early this summer has now been followed by an anti-religious drive of growing proportions. The Vatican says it is "the most intense and best organized since 1930."

Note—Recent religious rallies in satellite countries have produced overflow crowds in apparent defiance of the Communists' anti-religious crusade, but informed sources say it's "just window dressing for the West."

Mosquitoes Invade New Orleans, Buzz Way to Strippers on Bourbon Street

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An invasion of mosquitoes blown in by an in wind from the swamplands was credited today with driving the summer doldrums from Bourbon Street—especially as far as strippers went.

"It's this way," said Von Ray, the "Texas Tornado" who twirls six-guns as she peels. "If you dance fast, the skeeters can't bite you. When you slow down, oh boy!"

The insects blew into town last Friday on a warm wind out of the northeast and city Pest Control Officer Al Winklemier said there was nothing he could do about them until the winds switch and blow them out of town.

"We could control them today, but five minutes later a new batch would come in on a puff of wind," he explained.

The newcomers usually head for French Quarter night clubs where strippers present more bare flesh per square foot than in any other part of the city.

But the invasion has hit the entire city, in homes, restaurants, offices—anywhere there's air.

Weathermen, who said they weren't in the mosquito forecasting business, said the city would have easterly winds for several days to come. And those will bring only more mosquitoes.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. SYDNEY — A 10-foot sting-ray, the largest in captivity, has become so tame in a Taronga Zoo pool that it will eat from the hand of its keeper. The 500-pound monster spends most of the day sleeping in a secluded corner of the pool, but glides to the surface of the water when a salmon or mullet is held out.

STUBBORN MAMA—"Ralph," a four-year-old jenny mule, has the experts scratching their heads after giving birth to a colt on a farm near Elgin, Ill. Veterinarians say such a birth is the rarest of animal world occurrences, because mules, being hybrids, are usually sterile. The odds against such a birth are 10,000 to one. Here, the black colt is watched over by his phenomenal mother.

Add New Teacher At Galatia High; Enrollment Is Up

With the increase in enrollment at Galatia high school, one new teacher has been added to the faculty there, Principal Raymond Gardner announced this week. Total enrollment at Galatia is 197—103 girls and 94 boys—an increase of 27 over last year.

The new teacher employed is Mrs. Jane Wickham, the former Jane Anderson, of Harrisburg. Mrs. Wickham is the daughter of George Anderson and the late Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Wickham and children now make their home with Mr. Anderson, north of Galatia.

With the addition of the new faculty member, Principal Gardner related it was possible for the school to offer several new courses. Among these are speech, which has been offered upperclassmen, trigonometry, personal typing, record keeping and book-keeping, fourth year English, and a family living course, open only to seniors. An extra period for girls and boys physical education classes has also been added.

Mrs. Wickham will teach English, Sammy Miranda will be the speech instructor. Miss Moore, home economics teacher, will direct the family living course; Miss Kastens, the math course; and Mrs. Pulliam the commercial subjects.

Enrollment by grades is seniors 27, juniors 55, sophomores 47 and freshmen 68.

Principal Gullie of the Galatia grade school has announced that the total enrollment there is 256, a slight increase over last year.

down Saturday evening to sundown Sunday night. Consequently, women were not permitted to knit at the Saturday night church service but could knit on Sunday night at church.

Slaves were brought into the community by the early settlers, but when Illinois entered the Union in 1818 as a free state the slaves were freed. One of the first colored land owners was Susanna Martin, a great-grandmother of Mrs. Roy Craig of Harrisburg. She, with her children, was sent here from Virginia by her master. She was freed and land was purchased for her. The colored settlement called Locust Grove grew until 30 or 40 families lived there.

Relate History of Families

They had their own school and churches. Richman Inge was purchased as a slave by Alexander McCreery so that he might come here to be with his wife. He was permitted to work out his freedom. He did this by making shoes for the whole settlement.

Tom Marvel and Attorney T. J. Layman of Benton related some of the history of their families. Mr. Marvel's great-grandfather's wife was the sister of the Clark brothers, George Rogers and William. The name George Rogers has been given to several in the Marvel family. On his arrival in the community, Col. George Rogers Marvel bought out Henry Yost. He was a veterinarian and served in the Civil War in the same regiment with a General Logan.

Mrs. M. E. Shepard gave an account of the making of yeast. As a child she gathered wild hops which grew in an old buffalo wallow. These were thoroughly dried, cooked with potatoes and salt. The potatoes then formed the basis for the next steps in yeast making. After additions of meal, sugar and periods of rising, flour was added and small cakes were made. They were put in the sun to dry. The drying must be done in one day or the yeast cakes would spoil. Mrs. Shepard added that once light bread making took several days, while today, good bread can be easily made in half a day.

Besides those already mentioned the following contributed to the discussion on the Liberty community: Mrs. Florence Plasters, a descendant of the McCreery family; Mrs. Perry Thompson, Alvin Heflin, H. Clay Inge, a former Franklin county superintendent of schools; Mr. Stevenson; Lee Browning, principal of a school in Valer whose grandfather, a twin, was born in the old Jordan fort; Mrs. Lula Nave, a descendant of the Mitchell family; Ernest E. Shepard, teacher in Benton; Webb Kimmel, teacher, Mrs. Ralph Carson, Margaret and Elsie Jochum, descendants of the Kays family, and James Bond and Louis Aaron, members of the historical society.

The next meeting of the society will be on Oct. 5 and will be held in the club room of the public library.

Start Construction of Metropolis Hospital

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP) — Construction workers poured the first concrete today for the Massac Memorial Hospital here after a delay due to changes in original plans for Massac County's first hospital.

The hospital as originally planned was expected to cost $720,000 but the lowest construction bid was $120,000 higher. Plans were modified to be financed by $55,000 from a local fund drive, and $40,000 from the state, $300,000 from the federal government and the remainder from a bond issue.

Sue Tate and Lynda Zinn will serve as activity editors, and Gloria Bush and Davey Knight as advertising managers. Sports editors will be Bob Fowler and Melva Hall.

The staff of the high school newspaper will be composed of Phyllis Odle, Gloria Bush, Yvonne Watson, Marlyn Flannigan, Sue Tate, Nell Jean Hankins, Shirley Richey, Lynda Zinn, Arlene Cook and Shirley Maynard. The girls will serve in pairs as co-editors during a months period.

Freshmen initiation has been in progress at the high school since Wednesday of this week and will conclude Friday night with the Senior class members entertaining the freshmen with a party.

On Wednesday, freshmen were required to show respect to upperclassmen by addressing them with their surname and shining their shoes. The traditional freshman green wearing apparel was also a necessary item. Thursday, freshmen wore vegetable necklaces to school. These included a peeled onion. Friday, freshmen boys came in dresses, girls in bib-overalls. The entire initiation was a school supervised project.

ruling threw up a barrier against his defense against both charges. In effect, he rested the defense on those counts. Williams said he was not ready to present evidence on remaining charges against McCarthy so the committee recessed its hearings until noon.

McCarthy then told reporters he considered Watkins' ruling "completely unwise and improper," but "made in good faith." Williams said the ruling knocked out 95 per cent of the defense case on the two points.

In support of his position, McCarthy had cited a speech of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, while a member of the House, and then started to discuss the activities of Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.).

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Federal penitentiary officials sent Eduardo de Schelly back to his cell Wednesday for a second eight-year prison term when guards discovered the 62-year-old Venezuelan was making $20 U. Scientist Warns of Bomb Radiation Even in Experiments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A research analyst said today the United States should "hesitate" to explode atomic and hydrogen bombs even experimentally because of the possible long-range radiation effect.

This was the advice of Dr. Leonell C. Strong of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Springfield, N. Y., given before the International Congress of Pathology meeting here.

Several other scientists have expressed similar theories previously. But the official position of the Atomic Energy Commission is that they are not true.

Nashville Trucker Held on Serious Bombing Charges

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The president of a successful trucking line and three other persons were charged today with a long series of sensational bombings which they allegedly had hoped to blame on labor unions.

Arrested were President Jesse Wilson, 48, of the Tennessee Motor Lines; his secretary, Mrs. Pauline Kelley, Nashville; Roy Herrod, 49, Atlanta, Ga., and a still-unidentified fourth person being held at Louisville, Tenn.

The bombing included the firm's own garage, to make it appear "organized labor or their sympathizers" did it; the home of former Nashville Mayor Thomas L. Cummings, and a state truck-weighting station.

They also were accused of conspiring to dynamite the home of Silliman Evans, publisher of the Nashville Tennessean.

Wilson, who investigators said cannot read or write, already was under indictment on charges of assaulting two of his firm's former drivers who were union members.

Andrews Kayoes Hughes in Hurry, Seeks Maxim Bout

CHICAGO — Paul Andrews set his sights on bigger game today as the International Boxing Club said it would attempt to match him with former champion Joey Maxim as the final test for a 175-pound title match with Archie Moore.

Andrews gained the chance for big money Wednesday night with a convincing one-punch knockout of Bobby Hughes of Warren, Ohio, at 0:52 of the second round in the Chicago Stadium television battle.

The punch smacked Hughes, who had scored 14 knockouts in his last 21 fights, on the jaw and he sagged to the canvas, fell on his right side, and never quivered as Referee Frank Gilmer counted 10 plus.

"I'd like to get Maxim," Andrews said. "I think I can beat him. Knock him out, and with that one for experience, I can beat Moore."

It was Andrews' 29th win in 32 pro fights, while Hughes suffered his 13th loss in 36 battles.

IBC Secretary Truman Gibson said he had conferred with Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, and that a November date for a fight with Andrews probably would be suitable.

Cleveland Has .712 Pct. As It Maintains Lead Over Yanks; Cards Trip Dodgers

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Indians set a new all-time victory mark for Cleveland clubs today and kept threatening one of the Yankees' proudest records while taking another big step toward their first American league pennant in six frustrating years.

Early Wynn defeated the Athletics, 5-2, Wednesday night to protect the Tribe's 4 1/2 game lead and become a 20-game winner for the third time in his career.

The victory was Cleveland's 99th of the season, one more triumph than the previous Indian high-water mark compiled by the Tribe's 1920 team and two more victories than the 1948 world champion Indians were able to register.

Two Points Off Record
In beating the Athletics with the aid of Vic Wertz' 13th homer,

The Yankees, who still nurse a faint hope of overtaking the Tribe, defeated Baltimore, 8-2, with the help of an old flame thrower, south paw Tommy Byrne, purchased from the Pacific Coast league only Saturday. Byrne, famed for his wildness in his previous tenure with the Yankees, walked only four and contributed a triple and a double with the bases full. Bullet Bob Turley struck out 12 Yankees during the seven innings he was around but still suffered his 15th loss.

White Sox Edge Nats, 2-1
Morris Martin limited Washington to two hits for 8 1/3 innings but needed Don Johnson's aid in the ninth to gain a 2-1 victory for the White Sox. The deciding Chicago run was scored off Bob Porterfield in the second inning on a double by rookie Joe Kiriene and singles by Ed McGhee and Chico Carrasquel.

The Red Sox knocked out Steve Gromek with a three-run burst in the first inning and went on to defeat the Tigers, 5-2. Frank Sullivan scattered seven hits to wrap up his 13th triumph as Sam Mele and Sam White each homered.

Milwaukee moved to within four games of the National league lead by beating Pittsburgh, 5-2, as the game between the pace-setting Giants and the Cubs was rained out.

Eddie Mathews' two-run homer off Dick Littlefield in the third inning provided the Braves with their 10th straight victory and Warren Spahn with his 19th of the season.

Dodgers Lose Ground
The Dodgers dropped two full games behind the Braves by bowing to the Cardinals, 6-5. Carl Erskine, aided by Duke Snider's 35th and 36th homers and by Roy Campanella's 19th, had a 5-3 lead until the ninth. He left the game with one out in the ninth and St. Louis runners on second and third. Jim Hughes was greeted by Joe Cunningham's double which tied the score and Rip Repulski followed with a single that drove in the winning run.

Ted Kluszewski's 45th homer and Wally Potts' 15th featured a four-run sixth-inning rally that gave Cincinnati a 9-3 decision over Philadelphia. Reliever Frank Smith posted his fifth conquest while Murry Dickson suffered his 18th setback.

Adams Tries Out Huge Backfield in Eldorado Practice
Charles Sutton, Eagle Capt.

With football practice in its second week and the first game of the 1954 season less than two weeks away—Sept. 17—Coach Al Adams at Eldorado is experimenting with a backfield that has three of last year's letter-winning linemen in it.

This unit would be a weighty one—Bob Vogel 247, Wayne Laffoon 190 and Lendal Lovellette 201. Keith Whitner, playing his first year of football, is the quarter-back.

Another ball-carrying unit is strictly a "pony" group with Capt. Charles Sutton 142, Ace Gwaltney 127, Potts 150 and Clark, about 125.

With the exception of Sutton, the pony backfield is composed of juniors who have advanced to the varsity from last year's soph team.

Adams knows the little guys can run and the big ones can drive—however the success of the big unit seems to depend on the ability of Vogel, Lovellette and Laffoon to play offensive backs and then take over in the line for defensive play. It will be a good trick if they can take the pounding they are bound to absorb.

Adams is working a varsity squad of some 30 candidates, including seven lettermen. Monogram winners from last season available are Capt. Sutton, Vogel, Laffoon and James Lyon, seniors. Lyon, 152 pounder, is an end. Juniors include Gwaltney, Lovellette and Bob Laffoon, a 155 pound center.

At present, top candidates by positions, appear to be Chandler, Stroke and Lyon, ends; Vogel, Laffoon and Lovellette, tackles; Roberts, Lovellette, Handell and another Lovellette, guards; Bob Laffoon and Herron, centers and the backs have been previously listed.

Eldorado opens the season Sept. 17 at Anna, then entertains Metropolis the following Friday.

Durocher Says 10 Out of 18 Should Give Flag to Giants

NEW YORK — Manager Leo Durocher estimated today that 40 more victories, including at least one against the resurgent Milwaukee Braves, should clinch the pennant for his New York Giants.

"I don't care what the other clubs do," he said confidently while loitering in the clubhouse after the postponement of Wednesday's game against the Chicago Cubs. "If we play and win, there's nothing they can do to catch us."

The voluble Giant skipper stressed that he was not predicting anything, but in the next breath he chirped "The statistics put us in a very favorable position."

"I've said before that 96 or 97 victories should clinch the pennant in this league," he analyzed. "Okay if we win 10 out of our remaining 18 games, that'll give us 96. And if we win one game from Milwaukee, that means they'll have to win 15 of the 17 other games they have left in order to beat us."

The Giants open an important three-game series against the Braves in the Polo Grounds next Tuesday night.

Durocher said he still wasn't counting out the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Brooklyn's not out of it," he said. "A lot of things still can happen. The Braves might knock us off two games and the Dodgers could go on a long winning streak and catch us."

"But all in all, I've gotta say that right now the figures look pretty good to me."

The Giants made an "insurance" move Wednesday when they purchased Joe Garagiola, from the Cubs for the $10,000 waiver price. The 28-year-old Garagiola, who has made 10 hits in his latest 16 times at bat to raise his average to .281, will divide the catching duties and be used as a pinch-hitter.

Danville Takes M-OV Playoff Championship

DANVILLE, Ill. — Danville trounced Clinton, Iowa, 6-3 Wednesday night to take the Mississippi Valley League Shagbushes playoff championship with three straight victories.

Clinton outthrew Danville 8-7 but four singles, including a squeeze bunt, to walk, an error and a passed ball gave Danville five runs in the second.

Danville held Clinton in check by reeling off three double plays. There were 823 paid admissions.

Unlimited Telecasts Killing Off Game, Says Baseball's Commissioner Frick

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, in one of the bluntest speeches he has made since assuming office served notice on baseball broadcasters that they are "killing the goose that laid the golden eggs" because they allow "unlimited television."

Frick made his accusation directly to the broadcasters at the guest speaker Wednesday at a luncheon of the Metropolitan Sports Broadcasters Association.

"Unlimited television is killing off major league baseball, which in turn will kill off major league baseball," said Frick. "You ought to be interested in saving the goose that laid the golden eggs, but instead you are killing it."

The commissioner said pointedly, "Your short-sighted attitude in time can cost you your good jobs, because there won't be any baseball left to broadcast or telecast."

Frick declared a defense of unlimited telecasting of baseball as a "public service" is merely "a selfish and phony attitude."

"I'll tell you why it is a selfish and phony attitude," said Frick. "I will guarantee you that I can get 16 major league club owners to agree to give away their telecasts to any network which wants them—provided there is no commercial sponsor."

"We will give you our product. But you can't take it."

Frick suggested that the whole problem could be solved by a conference among representatives of the television industry, the radio

Charles Has Reach IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Ezzard Charles challenged Rocky Marciano today for the title of boxing's "strong man" and promised to flatten the heavyweight champion or get knocked out trying to regain the title at Yankee Stadium on Sept. 15.

"They have built a myth around him," Ezzard explained his reasoning. "But I think I proved already that he is no superman."

He did that, he feels, in going 15 rounds with Marciano the last time out and Ezzard points to the title of the tape as proof that he has the muscles to do the job the next time around.

"I am two inches taller than he is," Charles contended, "and I have seven big inches in reach. That will do the job."

Not Revealing Strategy
Ezzard isn't revealing his strategy for what will be his 13th bout with the title at stake. And his assertions would seem to indicate that he plans to punch it out with the Rock. But that one little play of words on his reach advantage indicates that Ezzard may plan a bit more fleet-footed boxing. This is heightened by his statement that:

"I didn't take advantage of my physical qualities in that last fight."

They will be about even in weight so that the biggest edge Ezzard has will be his reach. In the last set he almost neglected to use his long-effective jab, even after he opened a gash over Marciano's eye.

There is a great attempt being made in Ezzard's camp to create the impression that he will go out and swap Sunday punches with the Brockton Blockbuster. Ezzard promotes this idea with his statement that he will knock out or get knocked out.

There also is a lot of conversation concerning the men on whom Ezzard has dropped the curtain with "one punch."

Quite an impressive list of one-punch victims has been compiled for those shilling for the Cincinnati challenger. Certainly Ezzard has halted a hat full of opponents, but the general opinion always has been that it was as result of cumulative blows and not the effect of one big blast.

Marciano, on the other hand, has a number of testimonials to his home run wallop. He won the title from Jersey Joe Walcott by taking out the venerable warrior with one clout to the whiskers. He kept it, against the same J. J., exactly the same way.

"They talk about his tremendous punch," Ezzard sniffs, "but he couldn't knock me down, let alone knock me out."

There is a suspicion that the Rock intends to remedy this oversight next Wednesday night. Certainly it would be to his advantage if Ezzard chose to stand still and trade haymakers.

From here that "strong man" bit looks like strategic conversation. Ezzard well may be readying his jab and his bicycle.

Ted Kluszewski Hits 17 Home Runs in 30 Days

PHILADELPHIA — Seventeen homers in 30 days—that's the fantastic rate at which Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs is slugging 'em.

The major league's home run leader began his spree on Aug. 10 with a circuit clout off Johnny Antonelli of the Giants. Wednesday he tagged Murry Dickson of the Phillies for his 45th homer of the season. He now leads runner-up Willie Mays of the Giants by six blows in the race for the homer championship.

Dwight Recreation Hall Fire Burns 2 Inmates

DWIGHT, Ill. — Investigators today sought the cause of a fire which swept the recreation hall of the Dwight Reformatory for Women, injuring two persons.

Twenty others suffered shock from smoke inhalation in the blaze. Warden Ruth Biederman said that 18 inmates and two warders were treated for shock, and two inmates were burned on the hands.

Discovery of champagne usually is credited to Dom Perignon, cellar master of the Abbey of Hautvillers from 1670 to 1715.

Adams Tries Out Huge Backfield in Eldorado Practice

Charles Sutton, Eagle Capt.

With football practice in its second week and the first game of the 1954 season less than two weeks away—Sept. 17—Coach Al Adams at Eldorado is experimenting with a backfield that has three of last year's letter-winning linemen in it.

This unit would be a weighty one—Bob Vogel 247, Wayne Laffoon 190 and Lendal Lovellette 201. Keith Whitner, playing his first year of football, is the quarter-back.

Another ball-carrying unit is strictly a "pony" group with Capt. Charles Sutton 142, Ace Gwaltney 127, Potts 150 and Clark, about 125.

With the exception of Sutton, the pony backfield is composed of juniors who have advanced to the varsity from last year's soph team.

Adams knows the little guys can run and the big ones can drive—however the success of the big unit seems to depend on the ability of Vogel, Lovellette and Laffoon to play offensive backs and then take over in the line for defensive play. It will be a good trick if they can take the pounding they are bound to absorb.

Adams is working a varsity squad of some 30 candidates, including seven lettermen. Monogram winners from last season available are Capt. Sutton, Vogel, Laffoon and James Lyon, seniors. Lyon, 152 pounder, is an end. Juniors include Gwaltney, Lovellette and Bob Laffoon, a 155 pound center.

At present, top candidates by positions, appear to be Chandler, Stroke and Lyon, ends; Vogel, Laffoon and Lovellette, tackles; Roberts, Lovellette, Handell and another Lovellette, guards; Bob Laffoon and Herron, centers and the backs have been previously listed.

Eldorado opens the season Sept. 17 at Anna, then entertains Metropolis the following Friday.

Durocher Says 10 Out of 18 Should Give Flag to Giants

NEW YORK — Manager Leo Durocher estimated today that 40 more victories, including at least one against the resurgent Milwaukee Braves, should clinch the pennant for his New York Giants.

"I don't care what the other clubs do," he said confidently while loitering in the clubhouse after the postponement of Wednesday's game against the Chicago Cubs. "If we play and win, there's nothing they can do to catch us."

The voluble Giant skipper stressed that he was not predicting anything, but in the next breath he chirped "The statistics put us in a very favorable position."

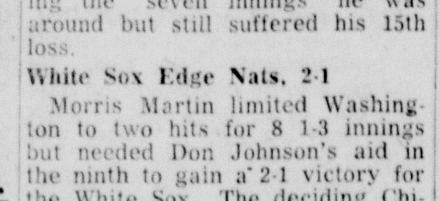

"I've said before that 96 or 97 victories should clinch the pennant in this league," he analyzed. "Okay if we win 10 out of our remaining 18 games, that'll give us 96. And if we win one game from Milwaukee, that means they'll have to win 15 of the 17 other games they have left in order to beat us."

The Giants open an important three-game series against the Braves in the Polo Grounds next Tuesday night.

Durocher said he still wasn't counting out the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Brooklyn's not out of it," he said. "A lot of things still can happen. The Braves might knock us off two games and the Dodgers could go on a long winning streak and catch us."

"But all in all, I've gotta say that right now the figures look pretty good to me."

The Giants made an "insurance" move Wednesday when they purchased Joe Garagiola, from the Cubs for the $10,000 waiver price. The 28-year-old Garagiola, who has made 10 hits in his latest 16 times at bat to raise his average to .281, will divide the catching duties and be used as a pinch-hitter.

The Shallenberger Rupture Shield has no leg strap; water proof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

A half hour after Fugger's store opened in the morning, Kinnaird came in. Laura was waiting on a customer and he stopped by the door until Laura had finished. He approached her then. "You've heard?"

She nodded.

"What do you think?"

"It's not true—about Wes, I mean."

"Wes," said Kinnaird, dully. "You've known who he was all along? Before you both came to Sage City?"

"Yes."

"You agreed at Turkey Crossing to come here."

"Oh, no. It wasn't like that."

Laura looked at the sheriff in astonishment. "No, Lee. He told me who he was before he rode off, but that—that's all." Pain came into her eyes. "There was nothing between us, Lee."

"I suppose not," said Kinnaird.

"Not if you say so, Laura. Only"

"He shook his head. "I liked him." He looked at her thoughtfully, a little worry creasing his forehead. "You, Laura?"

"What do you mean?" she asked, disconcerted.

"You liked him? Or perhaps it's more than just liking him."

"Oh, no!"

The quickness of her reply did not relieve Kinnaird. He sighed wearily. "I don't think he should have left town."

"But why not? He didn't do it, but because of his—his past, they'd accuse him of it."

"Oh, that's just talk. If it came right down to it, nobody could make that stick. Fugger's trying to, to cover himself. He shot a quick glance at the balcony. "It isn't that. It's just... well, Miller counted on him. That's one of the reasons he got so tough with Fugger. He figured Tancred would back him up and he didn't."

"No, Lee," said Laura in dismay. "You're wrong. I know you're wrong."

"Why?"

"Mr. Miller didn't know who Wes was, I'm sure of that. Besides, he never carries a gun."

"He had one at Turkey Crossing!"

"No, he didn't. I mean, he didn't carry one. Please! I was there. Father tried to get him to do something about the men, but Wes wouldn't. He tried to talk Father out of going up against them. But father wouldn't listen and was shot before anyone could stop them. It was then that Wes shot them. He didn't pick the fight."

"That sounds just like here."

Kinnaird said. "He wouldn't carry a gun, he wouldn't fight. But Miller knew who he was and counted on him."

"Father didn't know who he was. That's the point, Lee. To Father, Wes was just a man who took care of the horses. He told me after it was all over who he was..."

She winced and stopped.

By morning Hong Kong Smith was stupid from liquor. McCoy tried to talk him into going to the hotel and get some sleep, but Smith threw the bottle at him.

Smith dragged a chair to the door, pushed through the batwings and planted his chair on the sidewalk directly in front of the door.

Hong Kong Smith focused his eyes on the wooden sign over the Boston Store and he raised his revolver. He fired. The bullet missed the sign by about 10 feet.

He depressed the revolver, took aim and fired again. Glass crashed as the bullet went through the window.

He was aiming at the sign, when Gil Packard dashed out of the store. He saw Hong Kong Smith across the street and threw himself to the sidewalk. Smith fired a third time and again glass shattered, but it was the window of the Bon Ton Cafe this time.

He aimed again, but the sign of the Boston Store seemed to elude him and he swung the gun around and brought it to bear upon the window of the bank. He gripped his right hand with his left and holding it reasonably steady, pulled the trigger. The bullet crashed through the window of the bank.

Lee Kinnaird, who had heard the shooting, while he was outside the sheriff's office, came out on the street. Swearing under his breath, he started across the street. As he reached the side where Smith was, the Texan fired a fifth time. The bullet missed Kinnaird by inches and hit the courthouse.

Kinnaird ran forward and grabbed the gun in Smith's hand. He tried to jerk the gun from Smith's hand, but the big man held on to it.

"Lemme 'lone," he muttered. He jerked the gun free of Kinnaird's grip and swung the muzzle to point at Kinnaird. The latter, not knowing that the gun was empty, whipped out his own revolver and springing forward, smashed the barrel along the side of Smith's head.

Hong Kong Smith went over backward, rolling to the sidewalk. The blow that Kinnaird struck him was a hard one and Smith, rolling over, groaned and lapsed into unconsciousness. Angrily, Kinnaird stooped and jerked up Smith. He let the big man fall forward over his shoulder and grunting from the weight of him, carried him to the courthouse.

Gorey looked up as Kinnaird came in carrying the huge Texan. "Who you got there?" he demanded, then recognized him. "Hong Kong Smith! What're you doing with him?"

"I'm putting him in jail."

"You can't! Not him..."

Kinnaird carried the big man into the cell behind the marshal's office and dumped him.

Illinois High Court Convenes Next Monday

Bristow Chief Justice; Docket Crowded, 50 Cases

SPRINGFIELD — George W. Bristow will become chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court when it convenes Monday.

The 59-year-old Paris jurist, a member of the state's highest court since 1951, assumes the post of chief justice under the tribunal's system of rotating the position each September.

The court rotates the post according to seniority. Four of the seven justices have not yet been chief justice—Bristow; Ralph L. Maxwell, Nashville; Harry B. Hershey, Taylorville; and Ray I. Klingbiel, East Moline.

Klingbiel was elected to the Supreme Court only last year. Maxwell and Hershey took office in 1951 with Bristow, but since Bristow took his oath of office a few minutes before they did, he is their senior.

Bristow is a former state's attorney and master in chancery of Edgar County. He was elected a circuit judge in 1927 and re-elected every six years until he advanced to the Supreme Court. As chief justice, he will succeed Justice Walter V. Schaefer, Lake Bluff.

Cases Crowd Docket

The court, convening Monday for its September term, faces an advisement docket crowded with 50 cases ready for decision, and scores of others up for submission on briefs or oral argument. Formal opinions on those ready for decisions are expected about Sept. 22 or 23.

Constitutionality of the 1953 law which tightened up Illinois Drivers' license requirements is involved in one of the cases of major statewide importance which may be decided this term.

Cook County Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher ruled last Feb. 24 that a key section of the law gives the secretary of state unconstitutional power to revoke licenses. Revocation has continued, however, pending the outcome of the state's Supreme Court appeal.

Another keenly-awaited decision which may come down this term is on William Heirens' plea for a new trial for the 1946 slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan and two women in Chicago.

Heirens, now serving three consecutive life terms in Joliet prison, claims his constitutional rights were violated.

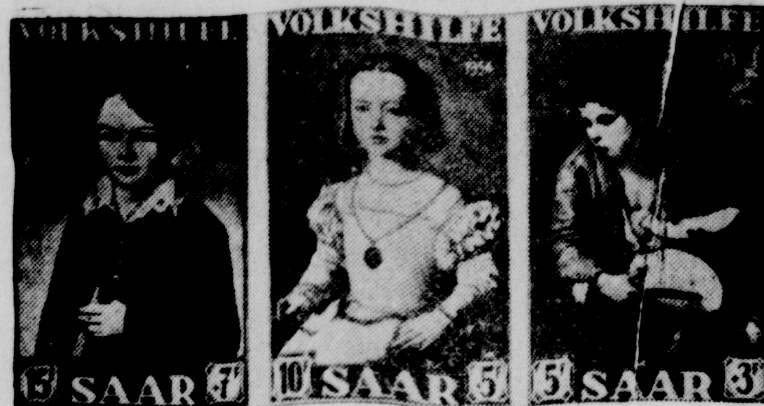

Anastoplo Decision Possible

The court may decide whether the committee on character and fitness of the 1st Appellate Court District was justified in refusing admission to the bar to George Anastoplo, Chicago, formerly of Carterville.

Anastoplo says he passed his bar examination but the committee refused to certify his character and fitness "solely" because he expressed "unorthodox" philosophical and political opinions when it questioned him.

Echoes of the 1951 Illinois horse-meat scandal are heard in another case on the advisement docket—the appeal of Joseph Scilliano, Chicago, from his Lake County conviction of bribing a state inspector to overlook illegal horsemeat sales.

Other cases ready for decision involve whether Mississippi River Fuel Corp. is liable for state gas revenue taxes; a test of the validity of community unit school district 4 at Paris, and the bribery conviction of former Bloomington police Sgt. Elmer Lyons.

Dr. Skaggs, Home from Alaska, Received Praise for Work in Mosquito Control

Dr. Frank P. Skaggs has returned to his offices in the Harrisburg hospital after completing a two-year period of service as a physician and surgeon with the U. S. Army.

Dr. Skaggs, who began practice in Harrisburg in 1949, entered the service as a first lieutenant in September 1952, spent most of the intervening time with the 4th Regimental Combat team at Ladd Air Force base near Fairbanks, Alaska, and was separated from the armed service with the rank of captain.

He attended the Army Medical Field Service school at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, after leaving Harrisburg, and left for Fairbanks November 23, 1952.

He was 1st Battalion surgeon with the combat team for six months, was regimental surgeon for three months and spent the remainder of the time as commanding officer of the Regimental dispensary.

His army experience included monthly arctic maneuvers in weather as low as 54 degrees below zero, and he took part in two large-scale maneuvers in the Alaskan area.

Dr. Skaggs, in addition to receiving the National Defense medal, received letters of commendation from the commander of the Alaskan Air Command for his co-operation in research and development on mosquito control, a commendation from the commanding general of the USARAF command and from the surgeon general of the Alaskan theatre.

He stated that, although weather in the Fairbanks area is bitterly cold in winter months, it is sufficiently warm, moist and swampy from June through August to make mosquitoes a health hazard as well as a discomfort.

Mrs. Skaggs and their son Bill, who is now 16 and a Junior at PTHS, were with him in Alaska, living at Fairbanks for 11 months, then moving to the Ladd Air Force base. They were met at

Elder Family To Meet Sunday At Karel Park

The members of the Elder clan will gather at Karel Park Sunday September 12 for their 21st annual get-together. Branches of the family tree will arrive from Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, Indiana, and parts of Illinois.

The greatest number will come from Saline county. It was to Eldorado in the early 1800's that Samuel Elder led his family across the river at Shawneetown and along the Old Shawneetown-Kaskaskia Trail looking for a place to establish a home. He bought land from Coleman Brown, who had entered it in 1814, and built a large double log house on the site where Jack Martin's home now stands. The soil was fertile, the hunting good, and the timber large and varied — what more was there to be desired.

The meeting Sunday will be opened with the singing of America, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and Thanks to God for the blessings enjoyed and the food prepared. A meal will be spread at noon by the ladies.

After the meal the president, Ore Elder, will give the address of welcome. There will be a short business session and the election of officers for the coming year. During the program music will be furnished by Miss Mary Ann Read. There will be a roll call of each branch of the family and interesting and amusing stories about these early pioneers will be related by their descendants. The stories will be as varied as the individuals about whom they are told. All members of the family have been asked to delve into the depths of their memories and bring forth these almost forgotten pieces of family history.

Former Local Woman, on Visit Here, Tells of N. Mexico Farm

By ALTA PORTER
Misery loves company, especially when drouth conditions strike.

Mrs. Lena Baker Bowman, LaMesa, N. Mex., formerly of Harrisburg, who with the help of two sons carries on a very successful cotton growing industry established by her husband, the late Frank Bowman, says that the Mesilla Valley, irrigated by the Rio Grande, is badly hit by drouth.

On her 225-acre cotton farm, watered ordinarily by irrigation, a deep water well, pumping 2,200 gallons of water per minute for irrigation purposes, was drilled this year.

At the time Mrs. Bowman left for Harrisburg in early August, the pump was out of repair and it was a great relief to her to get word upon arrival here that it was back in operation.

Mrs. Bowman, her sister, Mrs.

Della Spencer, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Bowman and a cousin, Mrs. Mary Blue Snedden, came to Harrisburg to attend the Baker family reunion at Brushy, which was held on Sunday, August 8.

She said that the harvest of 100 acres of cotton, 22 acres of cantaloupe, and of several acres of corn and barley depends upon the functioning of the pump to irrigate the crops.

Heretofore the land has been irrigated from Elephant Butte dam, water behind which has diminished to six inches, whereas two and one half feet are required to make a crop, Mrs. Bowman said.

She and her two sisters, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. W. E. Hutchinson, are descended of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Brushy township. Her farm is 1,500 miles from Harrisburg, and her family is one of several from this area that has been transplanted to New Mexico to the Rio Grande valley.

In 1904 she went to California to visit a friend, the former Mayme Pankey of Harrisburg. While there she met Frank Bowman, a New Yorker, who was bridge and building foreman for the Southern Pacific railroad.

Two years later they were married at Nogales, N. Mex., and Mr. and Mrs. Bowman lived on a work train which shuttled between division points, wherever construction was in progress by the railroad, until 1917. Two of their children were born at Tucson, Ariz., while they were in transient residence.

In 1917 Mr. Bowman bought a farm in Mesilla Valley, which he named Riverside farm. In 1925 he built a beautiful home for his family. He was a very enthusiastic farmer and a very successful one. He was one of the first to use planes to spray his crops with insecticides, and did much of his travel by plane, using a landing field on the farm.

Frank Jr. eldest son of the couple, was a licensed pilot, flying a transport plane which freighted gold from mines in Mexico to the United States.

In 1939 young Frank was accompanied by his father to Woodward, Okla., to purchase a new plane for his transport business, and en route home in the new plane they flew into a blinding snowstorm, during which they crashed into the side of a mountain and both were killed.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman attended New Mexico's A. and M. College. Two surviving sons, Charles and Robert, are farmers in the Rio Grande valley, Robert at Bernal, and Charles at LaMesa, which is also the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Edmonds. Mrs. Hugh Whitfield, the other daughter, is the wife of a truck transportation owner and lives at Las Cruces. Both girls are graduate home economists.

With her sister, Della, as companion at Riverside farm, and her four children and ten grandchildren living nearby, and in the same area of the Valley another sister, whose husband, W. E. Hutchinson is the brother of Mrs. Mima Woolard of this city, Mrs. Bowman is surrounded by an affectionate close-knit group of kinfolk. She says that she has never had time to be homesick, but does enjoy visits to Brushy and cherishes the memory of her hours spent with Saline county relatives and friends.

Galatia High to Participate in UI Testing Program

Galatia Community high school will be among some 500 Illinois schools participating this fall in the University of Illinois statewide testing program.

Tests of academic aptitude furnished by the University's Unit on Evaluation are administered by the schools and returned to the University for scoring. From the results of the tests the schools can determine how they are succeeding in the job of teaching. Other uses are for student guidance, discovery of students in need of special help, and as a record of student attainment.

In 1953-54 the Unit on Evaluation headed by Prof. J. Thomas Hastings tested 45,943 juniors and seniors in 508 schools. In addition, 27,141 other standardized tests were machine-scored for high schools.

The University's machine-scoring facilities were also used to score certain examinations. These included the County Scholarship examinations conducted by the University as well as semester and hour examinations involving large numbers of students.
